Ben Gould wins WV board seat

Rev. William H. "Ben" Gould won the vacant seat on the West Valley Joint Community College Board in a special election last Tuesday.

Gould outdistanced his nearest competition, Ernest J. Paramo, by over 550 votes, according to unofficial tabulations. Gould won 2156 votes, compared to Paramo's 1600. Approximately 7000 votes were cast, a voter turnout of only 5.7%.

Gould won in 43 of the 76 precincts voting in the election, while Paramo won in 27. Four precincts were won by Gary W. De Rosa, who polled 531 votes. Following De Rosa were Stephen L. Millich with 524 votes; Frederic A. Weed, 339; James H. Towers, Jr. 305; Charles Pillers, 290; Don R. Carlson, 250; Frank A. Atcheson, 156; Walter R. Gambell, 147; James S. Niles, Jr. 140; Kenneth V Crawford, 138; James A. Patrick, 108; Eugene Huston, 105; Jerry W. Bartholow, 95; and Robert "Leo" Kramer, 87.

The new trustee will take office on Nov. 18. He fills the vacant seat created by the death of William Homan last July when Homan suffered a fatal heart attack while on a trip to Virginia.

Gould, minister of the First United Methodist Church of Campbell, has been an active member of the community since his assignment to the Campbell church in 1961. He has served as a director of the Chamber of Commerce for several terms and for four consecutive years served as chairman of the Congress of Community Progress.

In 1969 he was named "citizen-of-the-year" by the Chamber of Commerce. In 1967 he was the recipient of the annual service award given by the Campbell Police Department.

Before coming to Campbell, he had served as superintendent of the Shasta district of the Methodist Church and previously served as pastor of the Methodist church in Chico.

OUT ON THE LIMB with George Vierhus

Dr. Nicholas Montesano, superintendent of Campbell Union High School District, is guest columnist this week. Dr. Montesano presents some of the advancing trends in education.

by DR. NICHOLAS MONTESANO

PROVIDING AN EDUCATION that best serves the needs of students in a rapidly changing world is the challenging job of your Campbell district high schools.

Needless to say, it's a job that can't be done by educators alone. It requires the concerted efforts of the whole community which is enhanced by its schools--citizens, students, and school personnel.

In other words, the taxpayers who provide the funds, the personnel who operate the programs, and the students who are the immediate beneficiaries.

Last year we began taking a whole new look at our educational goals. We had two particular reasons for doing so: In the first place, education, along with all the rest of our world, is changing so rapidly that goals which were adequate even a few years ago, are outdated to serve the needs of today's youth ; and secondly, the state legislature, under SBI, placed new specific responsibilities upon the Board of Trustees to set up graduation requirements and the curriculum for the students within its district.

WE REALIZE THAT making changes without first determining our goals would make us like the man who started driving on his vacation trip before he decided where he wanted to go and whether he would need to drive, sail, or fly.

To aid us in determining what we wanted our schools to accomplish, we set up study committees of parents, teachers, administrators, and students. We were thus able to draw up tentative proposals concerning our general directions and values. We are now in the process of considering implications of those goals and in making changes in such specific areas as graduation requirements, curriculum, and grading procedures.

THESE GRADUATION requirements, for instance, used to be set by the state. There was a prescribed course of study with a specified number of units in English, history, physical education, home economics, and driver education. Under SBI individual boards of education are given wide latitudes in setting up not only the curriculum but standards of proficiency. They are required now TO OFFER courses in subjects such as English, social science, foreign languages, science, math, fine arts, applied arts, and driver education.

In addition, two requirements have been retained. Students still must take 200 units to graduate and P.E. is still required.

As we study possible changes, what are the criteria for our considerations?

First is public concern. What do people expect their schools to do for their children? What changes do most people want?

Secondly, what would a proposed change cost? Money and taxes are important considerations. The Campbell Union High School District Board of Trustees has always tried to get the most out of every dollar spent.

The worth of a new offering which might mean costly

Citizens question board actions

Two letters questioning action by the Campbell Union District's board of trustee's are on the agenda for their meeting on Thursday, Nov. 4 at the district office, 155 N. Third St. at 7 p.m.

The first is a letter by Gordon Abbott, 1010 S. Baywood Ave., concerning the wage-price freeze. Abbott's letter in part says "As a taxpayer.....I resent tax monies designated for the education of our children being used for the purpose of lobbying for special interest groups. The expenditure of local tax monies by the Board of Trustees, for a project of statewide benefit is highly questionable."

Abbott's letter refers to the recent action by the trustees to contribute up to $100 to county counsel who traveled to Washington, D.C. in an attempt to ascertain whether salary schedules already in effect before the wage-price freeze could be exempted from the President's order.

The vote to contribute the money was 3-2 at a special meeting held Oct. 20. Voting to make the contribution was Dr. Richard MacQuiddy, Mrs. Eleanor Graham-Armstrong and Ralph Steinberg. Dr. Robert King and Mrs. Judy Ruscigno voted against the action.

The second letter is from James W. Gilliland, former trustee, questioning the board's action on the employment of Neal Royer, former superintendent of the district who was demoted last fall and who has recently left the school district and is now employed in Atascadero.

Gilliland had previously written a letter to the board asking when Royer was officially "separated" from the district.

His letter on the agenda for this meeting asks three questions: 1) by what board action did the separation between the Campbell Union School District and Royer occur? 2) when did the action occur? and 3) where is the board action (motion and individual member vote) publicly recorded?

Also on the agenda is a letter from the Campbell Elementary Teachers' Association naming their board of directors. They are Carroll Bergdahl, Rolf Monroe, Doris Kimura, Don Samuelson and Don Phillips.

The Campbell Chamber of Commerce had also issued a letter to the board, thanking them for their participation in helping to publicize the kiddie matinee programs which contributed towards the recent Clock Tower fund.

Resignations of seven employees are expected to be accepted including that of

TIME CAPSULE POSTPONED

The tentatively scheduled Friday "burial" of the time capsule beneath the Clock Tower at City Hall has been postponed according to Mrs. Jeanette Watson. The one-inch layer of resin which will line the outer box will not be dry ehough, according to George Rodriguez, builder of the capsule.

Kirkwood Drug is victim of evening robbery

A robber seeking narcotics and money held up the owner and a clerk of the Kirkwood Drug Store last Friday evening.

Wearing what appeared to be a mod wig, glasses and a Fu Manchu mustache, the robber entered the store shortly before closing time and demanded narcotics and money from owner Joseph Lombardi.

Carrying a small hand gun, he ordered Lombardi and Judy Tiffany, clerk, into a restroom where he handcuffed them to pipes beneath the wash basin.

Lombardi freed himself and Miss Tiffany by unscrewing the trap.

On investigation, it was found that the robber, described as being in his twenties, about 5' 10" to 5' 11" and weighing about 170 lbs., had taken about $200 in cash and stamps from the U.S. Postal Station in the store, as well as $150 cash from the drug store and narcotics worth about $200.

Sgt. Bob Wallace of the Campbell Police department is investigating the robbery.

Amato property hearing continued until Dec. 6

Approximately 100 persons attended the planning commission meeting Monday night to protest the application of Durastyle homes for a zone change on property adjacent to the San Tomas Expressway north of Campbell Ave.

Residents of the area, through spokesman Bob Sneed, 241 Victor Ave., asked the commission to deny the application to build multiple residences on the property.

The six commissioners present (Ed Pack was not there), were unable to reach a majority vote, so the hearing was continued until December 6.

Don Hebard made a motion to deny the application seconded by Bob Stewart. Voting with them was Norman Paul. Three commissioners, Dale Scott, Myron Alexander and Carl Larson voted against the motion.

Approved during the meeting were architectural approvals for Vita Agressi and Frank Dorsa. Dorsa's application was for a car wash at 981 E. Hamilton Ave.

Also approved was a variance request by Bruce Nighswonger for a carport at 726 Ginden Ave.

A P-D application to convert an existing residence at 866 E. Campbell Ave. into an English-style pub was also continued.

Two applications by Anderson Construction for a zone change and a text amendment were given commission approval. Anderson requested a zone change on property at 1501 Dell Ave. and also asked the commission to consider a text amendment changing side and rear yard requirements.

The application of Mission Pest and Termite Control for an extention to continue to conduct a business from a residence at 559 McGlincey Lane was denied.

PRIZEWINNING TRIP--Alice Vogel, (top), prepares to leave on a six day vacation to Mexico's famous resort area, Puerto Vallarta and Guadalajara, as winner of the grand prize in the contest sponsored by the PruneYard as a culmination of their recent grand opening celebration. Miss Vogel was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Lockert. Wishing them bon voyage are Cheri Walker, Miss PruneYard, left, and runnerup Jane Parks, right. PruneYard officials report that more than 75,000 persons attended the celebration which included the queen contest, continuous entertainment, and prizes, give-aways of color televisions, $800 in merchandise certificates and the Mexican vacation for two.

Phone book deadline near

Deadlines for changes, additions and revisions to the telephone directory are rapidly approaching, according to Pacific Telephone.

"The absolute deadline for yellow page listings is November 11," reports Jim Bower, local telephone company manager, "and December 15 is the cut-off date for the white page listings."

Bower urges persons who wish to make changes not to wait for the deadlines, but to phone their local business office as soon as possible.

The directory will be ready for delivery in early February and the 1972 cover will feature a night shot of the newly dedicated Campbell City Hall.

New postmaster named

William E. Jennings, 47, was sworn in as postmaster of Campbell in brief ceremonies at the main office here last week.

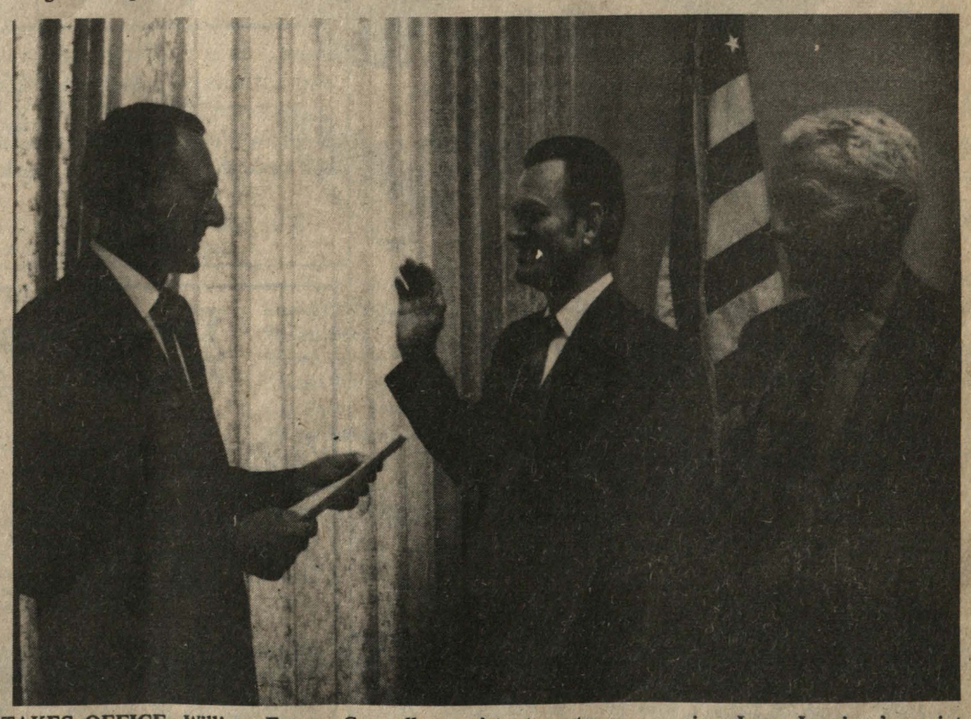
Jennings, formerly of Temple City, California, was administered his oath of office by George W. Connolly, assistant postmaster of San Jose.

The new postmaster fills the post vacant since October 1969, when Postmaster James Hurley retired. The position had been filled temporarily by Dick Adams, who was acting postmaster when Hurley retired. Adams, 44, suffered a fatal heart attack last May and Glen Knowles, superintendent of mails, had been serving as officer-in-charge.

Jennings, who is married and the father of three boys, had been assistant postmaster in Temple City and has been with the Postal Service since 1947.

A native of Grant City, Missouri, Jennings received his appointment under the merit selection basis established for the Postal Service by recent Congressional legislation. He was one of 17 postmasters, 16 for California, named last week by Fred Huleen, regional postmaster general.

The new postmaster is currently looking for a home in the area. His family is still living in Temple City.



TAKES OFFICE--William E. Jennings, center, is sworn in as postmaster of the Campbell Post Office by George W. Connolly, assistant postmaster of San Jose. On the right is Glen Knowles, who has been serving as officer-in-charge since June. Jennings' appointment was announced Friday by the regional postmaster general.

Council agenda includes report on fire services

Campbell City Council will hear a report and recommendation by City Manager Robert Stephens to keep the Campbell Fire Department intact this coming Monday evening at city hall.

Stephens was asked last January to prepare a feasibility report on the consolidation of the Campbell Fire Department with the Central Fire District.

Stephens is requesting that the council take no action at this meeting, but his recommendations regarding the report are that 1) the city retain their own fire department; 2) if the council desires a release of direct fire responsibility for the city that they consider a contract with the City of San Jose 3) the council urge the County Board of Supervisors to discontinue the practice of paying for some county fire services out of general funds and 4) that the Central Fire District Board release the unincorporated islands in the city to Campbell for fire service and provide revenue from taxes to the city for such services.

The council is not expected to take action at this time, especially since Councilman Bill Smeed may be absent from this meeting due to illness.

A resolution which can affect the salary status of John Morgan, Campbell Chief of Police who was incapacitated by a cerebral hemorrhage last February, may be acted on by the council at this meeting.

Stephens is asking the council to grant payment for compensatory time earned by department heads. In the past, department heads or those in managerial positions were only allowed to take time off to equal overtime and no financial payment was given. However, all such time is logged and if this resolution is passed, Stephens will ask the council to authorize payment on Morgan's salary through January.

Still pending is the decision of the State Workman's Compensation Fund and the State Retirement Fund as to whether Morgan's illness was caused by his job. If the decision is favorable, Morgan will temporarily remain on the city payroll.

Three "live" entertainment permits and a request for a Christmas tree lot operation are slated. The entertainment permits are for the El Burro restaurant, Hamilton Square Lounge and the Cap'ns Galley. The tree lot request is by the men's club of St. Lucy's church.

Ed Pack, planning commissioner, is asking the council to allow him to continue as a member of the commission, even though a conflict has required him to miss three commission meetings. Pack is requesting that he be excused from an additional meeting.

Four new city employees will be introduced to the council. The four have been hired under a federal program which funds a two year apprenticeship. Glenn Zaharek will serve on the police department staff, while Fred Van Hook, Michael Carr and Fred Bailey will be additions to the fire department. A fifth appointment, to the police department, has not yet been announced.

A request for permission to operate periodic flea markets at the Campbell Shopping Center at Latimer and Winchester will be considered.

Two appeals from planning commission decisions will be

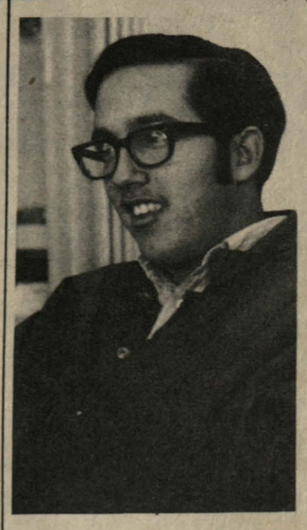
Editorial



Rusty Hammer, 18, was a member of the original Youth Commission. Now a student at University of Santa Clara, Rusty is a pre-law major and an active participant in city government.

Will you help?

by RUSTY HAMMER

The Campbell Youth Commission has been in operation for two years, and was given the job to represent the youth of Campbell in City Government.

After two years let us take an HONEST look at the commission and see if they have done what they were charged to do.

The Campbell Congress for Community Progress recommended in 1969 that a Youth Commission be formed. After many hours of hard work and study a resolution was adopted by the City Council creating a Youth Commission.

The first two clauses of the resolution say that "Whereas young people represent a significant reservoir of opinion and leadership capability and Whereas young people should be given a greater opportunity to participate in decision-making roles, especially in the area of governmental affairs..."

Let's evaluate:

The Commission had the leadership that it needed from the city family and the members of the commission were well qualified to be on the commission.

The commission contributed to the activities of the community in many ways during the initial period.

They published a booklet on rights and responsibilities of minors, held public hearings on current youth legislation, raised $2,500.00 for the John Morgan Fund, sponsored a city wide dance-concert, and worked on the plans for Rincon Park. These are some of the main projects that the commission worked on.

What is there that the youth commission can do in the future?

On October 12, the City Council was presented with a report on that subject prepared by myself. Some of my recommendations are:

 Local government class in schools
 Teen drop-in center
 Coordination of recreation programs
 Vocational employment program
 Display of student art in City Hall and library
 Police Cadet Corps
 Youth in Government Program
 Tutorial program for elementary school children.
 Child day-care centers
 Youth reference service
 Bicycle trails
 Program to reduce bicycle thefts
 Mini-bike racing courses
 Voter registration drives
 Hiring a Community Services Coordinator to work on youth programs and other community interest projects.

The commission faced some problems and they must be eliminated if the commission is to continue and become an effective organization. There was not a very good initial response from the young people.

This has improved as the commission became more active and accomplished more things.

The Community response could be better.

There are many things such as those mentioned above that can be done for, and by young people. The community must be involved and interested in working with the commission.

If these problems are solved, the commission could be well on its way to becoming a viable group with some influence and power to make things happen.

As is the case for any organization, especially one that requires community activity, there is a trial period that it must go through.

That trial period is now over.

The next year will tell the story. All the community must sit down and honestly decide whether a Youth Commission is necessary.

If we do, then we must do all that we can to assist the commission and work with them on their projects. We all must take an active part. If we decide that we do not need a youth commission then we should abolish it. All of our efforts will not have been in vain.

This puts a great burden on the Youth Commission, City Council, and the members of this community. I am confident that we can come together and make the Youth Commission work.

Our task is to involve the young people in government. It is vital that the young people whose words and actions have done so much to awaken and stir the conscience of this country will get involved and work to show their interest in the future of this country. It is a task that we all must work for.

equipment, materials and augmented teaching staff, must be weighed against all the other alternatives.

ANOTHER CONSIDERATION is time. Changing school curriculum is like coming out with a new car model--it takes time to retool. Can we retool fast enough to meet today's problems or tomorrow's changes? Will the changes upset college entrance requirements? The college time schedule for change may not be the same as ours.

A fourth consideration we might call remediation. Suppose we set one goal as attainment by all students of a given reading proficiency. How much time, effort and money are we prepared to expend in remedial classes to bring under-achieving students up to that standard?

Most basic of all our considerations is what are the trends for the future?

We know that we face greater and greater change. When we consider advancements in all areas of living in the last 15-20 years, we can guess at the acceleration of the next decade or so. How to avoid future shock will be one of our biggest problems.

A generation ago, schools trained students for specified careers--doctor, lawyer, merchant, farmer, teacher, nurse. Today we are training students for jobs that haven't been heard of yet.

OBVIOUSLY, SCHOOLS will have to offer a far greater choice of subjects. We added, for example, more than 100 new classes in the past two years in such diverse subjects as applied science research methods, ethnic studies, modern history of the Far East, and notehand.

Training for leisure time as well as work time becomes important when studies of our economic trends show that by 1990 we might be working only a 20-hour week or retiring at age 38. Here's just one facet of that program.

This year we have introduced a schedule of intramural sports in which all students can participate--not just those who have the time and aptitudes for team play in football, basketball, or baseball.

More and more students are taking vocational training. The curriculum here, too, must be different. We don't train a boy simply to repair a car because car designs are changing too fast.

Instead, he learns automotive mechanics, a general knowledge which he can readily adapt to future changes. In work experience programs students combine a full course of study with a paid job, and they earn while they learn.

Recognizing that students learn at different rates, educators are moving toward more individualized learning experiences allowing students to move at their own pace.

Some examples of individualized learning are ungraded classes, use of contracts set up for individual students in foreign languages, mini-courses--voluntary and ungraded, small discussion groups, and learning centers.

New equipment and audio-visual aids are creating a whole new world in the classroom. There's television, overhead projectors, tape recorders for language and reading labs, working models, class-made films, just to mention a few. Some, like the small computers, are offshoots of the moon program, but they are revolutionizing math teaching, too.

Determining our new educational program is a concept of vast scope. I have merely touched upon a few areas. It's a tremendous job and an urgent one. It needs the thinking and support of everyone in the community.

TO FOCUS ATTENTION on proposed educational goals and to encourage community participation, the district this year has set up "Road Shows." Their purpose is to provide interested people with materials for discussion, with films, and other audio-visual presentations of school concerns and problems.

Why not get a group together at your home?

Call Mrs. Andres at the district office, 371-0960, for assistance.

IT'S THE ENTHUSIASTIC support of parents that make Campbell schools among the best in the nation. This fact was brought vividly to mind Oct. 15 when fun, food, and fellowship were combined in a gala Mexican Fiesta at Westmont High School. A committee of 25 people from the Mexican-American community under the chairmanship of Ray Zaragoza prepared and served a Mexican dinner for more than 900 persons. A program of Mexican music and folk dancing was provided by the Mariachis: Los Abajenos, under the direction of Greg Perez. The event was sponsored as a benefit for the school athletic program. But it was much more than that: It was an expression of goodwill enthusiastically accepted by the entire school community.

This Mexican fiesta might be a good idea to carry over into Campbell. How about it CofC? It would make a dandy Community Progress Program.

New citizen cites benefits

Mrs. Naomi Rush of 60 W. Latimer Ave. joined the ranks of some 500 foreign-born last week when she was granted American citizenship in a ceremonial court in San Francisco.

Mrs. Rush, a native of Hampshire, England, came to this country six years ago. Her California-born husband, Hunter, is a student at West Valley College.

"I think that when someone comes to live in a new country and accepts that country as home and enjoys its benefits, they should give something in return," said Mrs. Rush. On her return from San Francisco, Mrs. Rush lost no time in visiting the registrar of voters office to register for future elections.

For three months prior to her citizenship ceremony, she attended classes taught by Bob Negendank at Camden High School, offered through Metropolitan Adult Education classes.

An employee of Westinghouse Corporation in Sunnyvale, Mrs. Rush was granted a day's paid absence from work to attend her citizenship ceremony.

The council will be asked to authorize the city manager to dispose of surplus public address equipment to the Campbell Union School District. Tony VanLaarhoven, principal of Hazelwood School, requested the surplus equipment be donated to the school district.

Items pertaining to what was formerly known as "civil defense" will be considered, including an ordinance to establish "Emergency Organization and Services", previously "civil defense".

Deferred from previous council meetings is the enactment of the agreement for architectural services for Rincon Park with Kenneth Aratunian and the proposed ordinances on the circulation of hand bills.

"Blue Box" is fraudulent

Pacific Telephone recently announced it is stepping up its efforts to seek prosecution of users of the infamous "blue box," an illegal electronic device which allows the user to make unlimited free long-distance calls.

That's the word from Jim Bower, PT&T local manager.

The crackdown came on the heels of a U.S. Supreme Court decision denying a hearing for three Santa Clara County men who were indicted by a Grand Jury and later found guilty of, among other things, conspiring to defraud PT&T through the use of a "blue box." The California Supreme Court earlier made a similar charge.

Pacific Telephone first became aware of the trio's activities in November, 1966, when they discovered some 2,000 direct-dialed Directory Assistance calls were made from one San Jose phone to many points throughout the country.

Though there is no charge for long-distance Directory Assistance calls, a record of each such direct-dialed call to information is automatically made by accounting equipment.

By predetermined operation, the blue box (technically known as a "multifrequency signal generator") could be triggered to switch the call from a long-distance Directory Assistance line directly into long-distance switching equipment, hence bypassing regular central office call-recording equipment.

A thorough investigation by PT&T security agents disclosed that the San Jose calls were being diverted by the blue box from Directory Assistance numbers in distant cities to telephones in other areas.

Avoiding lawful charges by means of such devices as a blue box in California can result in fines of up to $5,000 and imprisonment for up to five years.

EDMONTON TOURNAMENT

While none of our Northern California Darters made the trip north to Edmonton, SCDA President Capt. Blob (Dick Matruen) and SCDA Singles Champion Larry Kerbs showed the Canadians how the game is played in California.

Amidst cries of "I didn't know they played darts in California," Kerbs took second place in the Singles Competition with The Blob tying for fifth.

The Singles were played on the double elimination basis. When you lose a match you move down to the "B" level. The winner of the "B" level must then defeat the winner of the "A" level, twice in order to win. Larry Kerbs lost his "A" level match to Bill Morrison of Prince George, B.C. Kerbs then had to work his way up thru the "B" level and again had to play Morrison.

Larry took the first match but Morrison took the second and the Singles title.

The Southern California pair then went on to finish second in the Doubles Competition behind George Bryant and John Skears of Edmonton.

For the four-man team match, Kerbs and Mitruen joined Frank "Fearless Leader" Stefaniak and Vern Dalgleish of Edmonton. "Fearless Leader" was in a great spot as Team Captain. If they lost he could blame it on those two up-starts from California and if they won, he could say the Edmonton boys carried the match. Needless to say our "Fearless Foursome" took the team games.

Edmonton found out that indeed we do play darts in California.

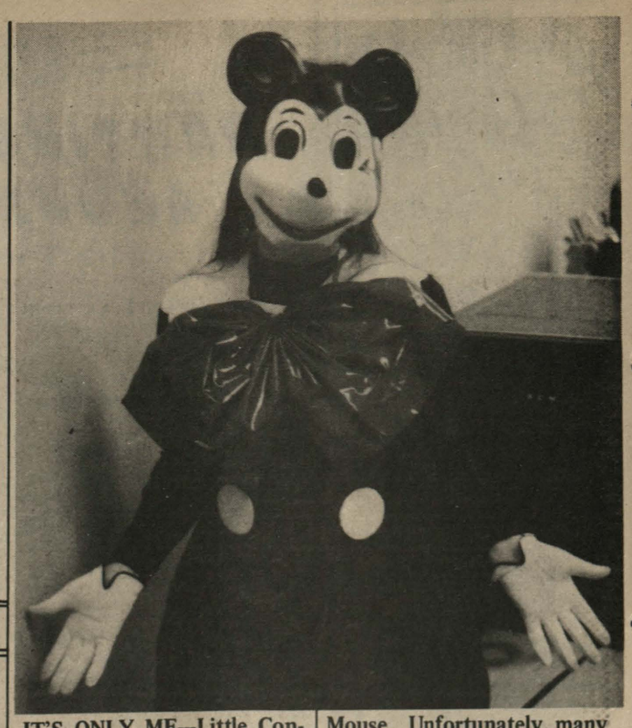
Rodriguez is new manager

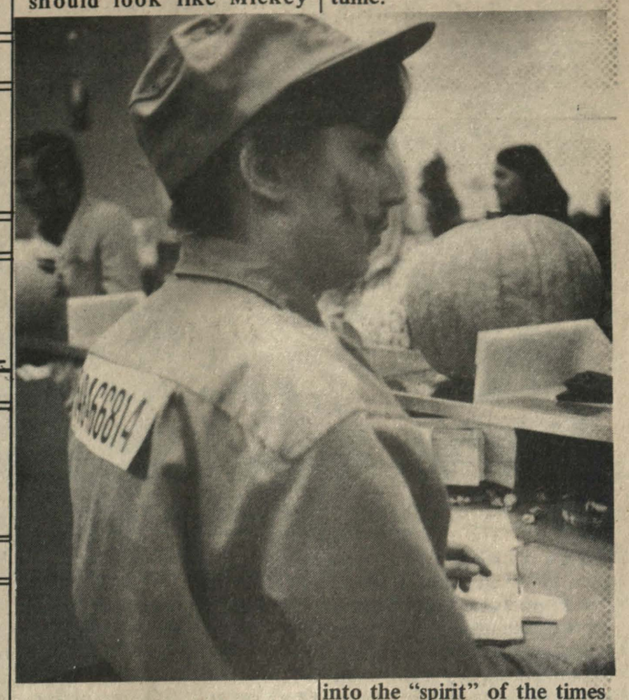
Gus Rodriguez of Campbell, a 22 year employee of Handicapped War Veterans Crafts and Salvage Shops, Inc., 1082 Alviso St., Santa Clara, has been named manager of the non-profit store.

Rodriguez elected by the Salvage Board, succeeds Irving R. Cabral, who served as manager for 17 years. Handicapped War Veterans (HWV) a non-profit organization, was founded in 1946 by a group of local veterans.

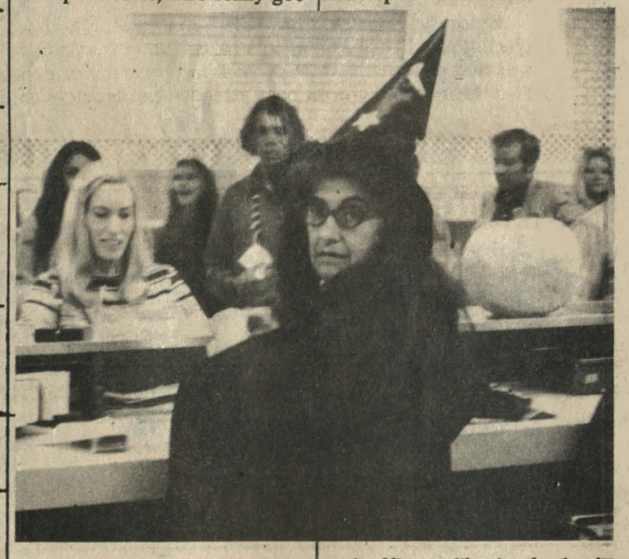
Persons who wish to donate furniture, clothing, or appliances as well as other household items should call 296-2553.



IT'S ONLY ME---Little Connie Scott of the Bank of America, Campbell Avenue branch, said the only person who didn't like her costume was her primary age son, who just couldn't figure out why his mommy thought she should look like Mickey Mouse. Unfortunately, many of the bank's customers didn't get to see Connie's full outfit, since the hot mask was only worn on request. Connie and other bank employees celebrated Hallowe'en by appearing Friday morning in costume.



AN ESCAPEE?---Not so, it's Carleen Kendall, member of the Bank of America staff on Campbell Ave., who really got into the "spirit" of the times when she paraded in a "convict" suit last Friday. Most of the bank staff wore "unusual" and "spook" costumes.



OFF-GUARD---Connie Velasco, teller at the Bank of America branch on Campbell Ave., was waiting on customers last Friday when the camera caught her. Tellers and officers alike in the bank gave their patrons a lot to talk about when they dressed in party and Hallowe'en costumes and surrounded their counters and desks with Hallowe'en decorations.

YOUR CARRIER WILL BE CALLING ON YOU during the next 10 days for his regular monthly collection. Please have your change (35¢) ready so that he may meet his obligation. THANK YOU.

Couple celebrates golden year

MR. and MRS. VIRGIL WILLIAMSON

Yellow and gold chrysanthemums and gladiolas decorated the Campbell Baptist Church Hall, 151 Sunnyside Ave., when Virgil and Orpha Williamson were honored on their fiftieth wedding anniversary with a surprise buffet dinner.

Seventy-five guests attended the anniversary celebration which was arranged as a surprise by friends and relatives who also presented the couple with a money tree.

A pink knit A-line dress accented by an orchid was worn by the honoree.

The Williamsons, who have lived in Campbell for 31 years, reside at 188 E. Sunnyside Ave.

Williamson formerly worked in the Hunts Food Co. and Mrs. Williamson is a retired Valley Medical Center nurse's attendant.

The couple have 11 children, who attended local schools, and 32 grandchildren. Three of the children, Virgil, Carol and Vernon Williamson reside in Campbell. Joseph Williamson and Mrs. Ronald (Juanita) Von Pinnon live in San Jose. Billy Williamson is a Los Gatos resident and Floyd Williamson lives in Santa Clara. Other children include Mrs. Floyd (Betty) Walker, Santa Ana; Donald of Salem, Oregon; Robert of Florida; and Mrs. Bruce (Patty) McFarland of Walla Walla, Washington.

D. J. Decker, a long-time family friend, gave the couple his blessing at the event. Williamson's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. Williamson of Santa Clara, attended the buffet as did her sister, Mrs. Roxie Pruitt of Modesto.

Debra and Michael wed in afternoon

Debra Lee Hughes carried a cascade of carnations as she walked down the aisle to wed Michael John Loney in an afternoon ceremony at Landmark Missionary Baptist Church.

The bride wore a floor length gown of silk organza, with an empire waist and a bodice of Venetian lace. Her cathedral veil was attached with a headpiece of organza.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Grant Hughes, 1017 Prouty Way, San Jose, was given in marriage by her father.

She chose Linda Fletcher as her maid of honor. Valerie Hughes, of Campbell, a cousin of the bride, and Donna Watson served as bridesmaids. Katherine Loney, sister of the groom was flower girl.

The attendants wore gowns of nile green organza over taffeta, and carried nosegays of white carnations, mums and yellow daisies.

Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean R. Loney of Oregon City, Oregon.

Philip Yovan was best man for the couple while John Dudley and Larry Clarkston were ushers.

Pat Smith was organist for the wedding and Reverend Royce Smith conducted the ceremony.

Before leaving for their new home in Milwaukie, Oregon, Debra and Michael greeted their guests in a reception at the Campbell Moose Lodge which was decorated with white candles and bouquets of daisies, dyed a nile green.

The bride and groom both attended Lynbrook High School.

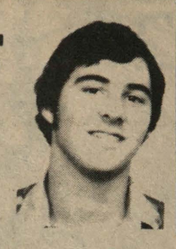
Cougars Corner



By Chris Rodgers

C/C RUNS WILD
by Bob Benson

Camden's Varsity Cross Country team, now running in the top spot in the league, will meet Leigh at the Noviate course in Los Gatos, tomorrow.

If the Cougars win this meet and go on to win the league finals at Coyote Park next week, they will have their fourth uncontested league victory in a row.

Cougar victories are also rollin' in for the JV, sophomores, and freshmen teams. The JV team also holds first place, while the freshmen are tied for first with Los Gatos and Leigh. The sophomore is in third.

Last week in the meet against Campbell and Del Mar all eight wins were racked up by tromping both schools in all four divisions.

Three course records were also set the same day. The Varsity broke the team record by nine seconds. The freshmen team also set a new standard by over a minute.

One individual record was broken when freshman Tim Siggins beat the freshmen standard of 13:44 by 14 seconds. The old record was set by Dirk Jeanis in 1970.

A STAR IS BORN!
by Karen Kost

Randy J. Roetman has just completed the run of the smash hit comedy, "Norman, Is That You?" last Friday and Saturday nights at the Montgomery Theater. He received many fine reviews.

It was his first play for the San Jose Theater Guild and also the Theater Guild's first production of the 1971-72 season.

Randy's first big break to act for the Theater Guild came when he was attending a party. Don Hills, president of the guild, had seen him act in two musicals during the summer, one of which he had the leading part. Hills asked Randy if he was interested in trying out for the Guild's play.

Randy tried out against some other bay area actors and was given the second lead in the play, "Norman, Is That You?"

He has had favorable reviews in local papers, the biggest being in the San Jose Mercury. The Murcury review, which seems the most important to Randy said that he "walked away with the performance." Other newspapers mentioned that his part highlighted the show.

A new Cafe' Theater is being built for experimental plays and more works of the Theater Guild. Randy was chosen to act in their first play when it opens.

His next goal is to work in the nearly built Community Theater when it opens.

In the past Randy has played in "David and Lisa," "Great Expectations," "Send Me No Flowers," "Twelve Days of Christmas," "Norman, Is That You?", and is currently working on the Senior Play "Rhinocerous."

Randy plans to attend San Jose State after graduation, and his future plans are to become a broadcaster and also some day he would like to own his own radio station in San Francisco.

Prospect's Prophecies

by Phyllis Voigt

KPRO - Radio

Prospect Junior Rick Hansen's parents have always thought that he should be a radio broadcaster. "Because," Rick explained, "I have the gift of gab." For many years he made up his own broadcasts and taped them for his own use and for his friends' enjoyment.

Then, one day, he got a chance to go through the KLIV radio station. On visiting the news room, he was allowed to help work on the broadcasting schedule, and to see how much work goes into a news broadcast. "That decided me," he said. He chose broadcasting as his career, and went home to do more and better tapes.

He realized that other people might also be interested in this field, so last year he went to the school administrators to see if some kind of club or commission could be formed.

PROBLEMS

Several problems had to be solved before the club could begin. An outline had to be written up covering the purpose of the club, how much money would be needed, and who could be the advisor. He had to go through Mr. Moon, the director of activities, to get things coordinated.

Mrs. Marie Jones was finally chosen as the advisor. They worked to get a place where they could tape radio broadcasts, to show the members what it is really like.

Then they had to go through the FCC-Federal Communications Commission. It was then that they ran into a lot of red tape. The FCC requires that they use open frequencies, they get Class Three licenses--a license needed to do radio broadcasts--and that they get support from a well-established station. They contacted several stations to ask for help.

A few offered to help them get through the FCC red tape. One offered to give them the equipment they would need, but then was unable to do so. A station in San Francisco has now offered to donate the equipment on or by Nov. 18.

BROADCASTS

At this point, the club plans to tape and broadcast music, local and school news, sports events, editorials, and later, when they have some sponsors to help with the financing, commercials.

However, they have heard that there is a ship that can re-transmit their signals so that the broadcasts can be picked up within a two mile radius of the school. This is just a vague possibility at present, and much depends on the decision made by the FCC.

MEMBERSHIP

To join the Broadcasting Club, and KPRO radio, a person must: be a sophomore, junior or senior at Prospect, obtain a Class Three license, and have a "pilot" tape made up, with the help of club commissioner Rick Hansen. These pilot tapes will enable the commission to screen out unsuitable voices or speech problems: squeaking, mumbling, or stumbling over words, etc.

Cross your fingers for the final bout with the FCC, and stay tuned for more news concerning KPRO in future articles.

SPORTS

In the football scene, Prospect got it on in a recent game against Westmont, with a score of 35-20. October 22 was another winning day for the Panthers as they defeated Camden with a score of 28-14. Del Mar hosted Prospect on Oct. 29, but unfortunately the team lost to Westmont with a score of 35-19. High point men were Steve Wood and Rick Greenberg.

Berets play at "home" Sunday

All three of the Pop Warner Youth Football Teams sponsored by the West Valley Touchdown Club turned in crowd-pleasing performances in their "home-coming" games at Westmont High School last Sunday.

Even the weatherman cooperated by providing a fine day for football.

Cheered on by a larger than usual turnout, the Red Berets bowled over the Eastside Packers 18-0, the Gold Berets won a hard-fought contest with the Colts 14-12, and the Green Berets downed the Mustangs 26-14.

Both the Red and Gold teams are playing "home" games at Westmont again on Sunday, meeting the Eastside Buccaneers and Pirates respectively.

The Green Berets will once again take to the road, playing the Eastside Raiders at Overfelt High at 2 p.m.

Game times at Westmont are 10 a.m. and noon.

There is no admission charge for any of the games and the public is both invited and encouraged to attend.

For additional information, please call J. G. Akers, West Valley Touchdown Club President at 379-4720.

results of that game were not available at press time.

CROSS COUNTRY

A cross country meet was held on Thursday, Oct. 21; pitting Prospect against Camden, Los Gatos, and Westmont, at Westmont. On Oct. 28, there was another cross country meet at Branham, involving Branham, Leigh and Prospect. The results of both these meets were unavailable at press time.

Under the direction of Robert Manning, the 75-piece orchestra will perform Prelude to "Die Meistersinger" by Wagner; Beethoven's Symphony No. 1 in C major, op. 21; Three Dance Excerpts from "Rodeo" by Aaron Copland; and "Wesendonck"

Campbell Capers

by Jeanie Harris and Doreen Henner

Campbell's senior class of '72 will present the play "The Matchmaker," a comedy written by Thornton Wilder, on Thursday and Friday, Nov. 4 and 5 in the auditorium at 8 p.m.

Admission is $1, with children under six admitted free.

Some of the leading characters are: Alden Skinner, Sindy McKay, Mike Powers, Valerie Chance, Lori Pellet, Steve Hitch, and Marcia Henry.

Tickets will be on sale through Friday, available from any senior or cast member.

Money raised from this event will go toward activities for the senior class.

Along with the hour lunch schedule acquired last year, Campbell will be trying something new. Students and teachers who have a specific knowledge or ability are being invited to teach a one hour "mini-course" during the lunch hour.

Also, they will test a new system of study center. Each day of their assigned study hall periods students will have a choice of going to three different assigned areas. For research and quiet study, students will go to the library.

Other opportunities will be group study and a free study hall with music. It will be tested on the students having sixth period study hall and analyzed by a student-faculty committee before the program is granted to the whole school.

SPORTS

The Buccaneer football squad lost its second game of the season to Camden on Friday, Oct. 29, with a score of 19-14. Steve Davis made the first touchdown for the Bucs, also the 2 point conversion.

Thurl Noonkester also scored on a 50 yard pass from Steve Garrido. However, in the last minute of play, Camden (accidently) intercepted a Campbell pass and ran for the touchdown to make the score 19-14. Campbell's frosh-soph gridders won their game against Camden with a score of 14-6.
